Rockey Burgers HTML/CSS Website

Deadline: Saturday, Sep. 22nd 11:59pm.

Project Description

Students will create a website using HTML(5) and Cascading Style Sheet (CSS).

Students will use some of the information provided by client to create a new web presence for this burger joint. The burger joint is named Rockey Burgers. You will research for colors, ideas, and find other related media assets that you could use on this project. Manage your time well for this project.

Requirements

- Proper use of HTML(5) elements and attributes.
- Proper use of classes and id.
- Well organized project folders and naming conventions for files, media assets and stylesheet.
- The main page should be named index.html
- Website must include a menu navigation.
- Use content provided by client.
- Embed a YouTube, Vimeo or self-hosted video about burgers (bonus points).
- Use  tag if you are going to display a table or collection of data.
- Allowed to use ONLY bootstrap template.
- Overall look and feel of the website. Make the website visually appealing. Get suggestions or input from fellow students and instructors.
- Test and check your website for errors before submitting the assignment.

Submission

- Post Git Pages URL to Canvas.

About

Slogan: Best Quality Burgers in town. Off the charts.

Step into any ROCKEY BURGERS, and you'll notice we're different. From our famous (free) house-made pickles, to the hand-painted signage, to our cheerful staff, we build our restaurants like we build our burgers–sustainably, locally, and with an unwavering commitment to quality.

Fresh, quality produce, meat, dairy and buns, sourced from partners located just miles from our restaurants, are the ingredients to making the perfect burger. This commitment to creating the best possible food for our guests is a direct reflection of our promise of creating fast food burgers using slow food values.

Bite into any Super burger, and taste the difference. Our burgers, fries, and shakes are made with the finest, freshest ingredients available.

All our beef is Rockey Farms, humanely-raised, vegetarian-fed, ground fresh daily, and sourced from a family-owned ranch.

All of our shakes and cones are made with organic cream from Rockey Creamery, a small, family-owned, organic farm located South of Nephi, Utah.

Our buns are baked to our specification by an artisan baker in Nephi, UT

The potatoes we use to make our French fries are made from potatoes grown in North America by growers who are required to identify the genetic source of their seed potatoes. We do not work with genetically modified potato varieties. Our potatoes are processed fresh off the field and delivered to us without any modifications. We proudly serve Sir Kensington ketchup.

Frequently Asked Questions

Why is your Rockey Burger So Expensive? (click and reveal feature)
We focus on making meals with the best and freshest ingredients, like humanely-raised beef that is ground fresh each day, organic chicken, and Rockey Family Dairy's organic cream for our ice cream cones, sundaes and shakes.

Our commitment to freshness and quality means higher prices than you'd find at traditional fast-food burger chains. It also means food that tastes way better — because, well, it is.

Where does your beef come from? (click and reveal feature)
We source our humanely-raised, vegetarian-fed beef from local, family-owned ranches. We use an 85% to 15% protein to fat blend, a mixture of the lean protein and the marbling found on in a cut of steak for our ground beef. The mixture is ground daily, and thus, our burgers taste so amazing.
